back to the egg tower defense

the video looks promising however the gameplay is really lacking. For starters there is only a single map and it is very small. you can power up the tower with a crystal as the only means of progression eventually you do face a stronger enemy after about 10-15 waves. this game just kill 10-20 orcs and wait 5 seconds for another wave of enemies. you cant place any sort of tower defense strategy to it. if you play as the warrior you literally just whirlwinds to win until you face a tough orc which you just press ground slam to win.

. so what to say about this game...

firstly lets play https:\/\/www.youtube.com\/watch?v=28rd16XavD4

This game is very very simmilar to orcs must die. It's a wave based tower defence game where you face off against ever increasing waves of enemys.

I found this game to be lacking online multiplayer (I assume due to not having to host multiplayer servers and saving money?)

The gameplay is simple. fun, but dose get repettitive.

You will be giving pro's and con's each level. so say you maybe will run 30% faster but you will be on 50% health this round for example. maybe it should be a risk system.. so you wont always get bonned over each round?

the graphics are cartoon like but very sharp and good textures and on my system at least it ran very smooth. I very much like the music selection as it gives a great ambience.

so long review short

-optimisation

con's
-price
-gameplay (or lack of)

Good time passer but too expensive for what is on offer IMO

6.5\/10
good. Game works fine. Worked with the developer and we found a typo. Game is fun. Please see the video and how much fun I had!! Nice work from just two guys! Good use of Unity engine. Nice graphics, sound effects, fun gameplay.
Oh and more features coming soon!!

. it`s a nice tower defense Game with some particular action elements :) it has potential ;). Game play you can check out at : https:\/\/youtu.be\/Ikf9H0dihFI

Not a bad game, but lacking in game play, it needs more that just running to and from your towners. I think it would be more fun playing the multi-player with friends. The graphics are cartoon like but look great. I did run into a bit of lag while playing not sure why. Its a good way to kill time but at $8.49- on sale $9.99 normal price I think its over price. I would put this game at $4.99 the way it sets now. I still would recommend buying this game as I think the Dev has got a good thing here and with the right touch it could be a great game.. Game was absolute crap. Developers re-did it numerous times and finally ended up going down a path that looked promising with the right features and gameplay... then they called it donewithout really hashing out that idea at all. Think of this as a tech demo for the concept of a TD game.. Don't waste your time.. so what to say about this game...

good. why cant player 1 be player with a gamepad too? thats frustrating, pls fix it so i can upvote =(. Back to the Egg is already in it's early stage a great timekiller and keeps you motivated.
Nice graphics and solid engine do thier job so bugs are very rare.
Love the fact, that it has got the good ol' Splitscreen (if you have a Gamepad) and i can't wait for the content jet to come...

lol the game is fun BUTTTTTTTT its still in development so grab it NOW the devs will ad du and listen. why cant player 1 be player with a gamepad too? thats frustrating, pls fix it so i can upvote =(
